WEEKLY VANTAGE POINT

July 29-August 2, 2019

Stocks Retreat on Rate and Tariff Concerns

Worst Weekly Loss Since December

The S&P 500 fell each day last week, suffering its worst weekly loss of the year as investors sought safe-haven assets after President Trump threatened to broaden tariffs to more Chinese imports. China's foreign ministry pushed back on Friday, saying China will retaliate with appropriate countermeasures if the U.S. imposes new 10% tariffs on September 1. Equities were already under pressure on disappointment the Federal Reserve's first rate cut since the financial crisis did not come with clear assurances for further easing.

Weekly Performance

For the week, the Dow Industrials fell 2.60%, the S&P 500 lost 3.07%, and the tech-heavy Nasdaq Composite tumbled 3.90%. The S&P 500 retreated nearly 3.1% from its most recent record-high set on July 26.

Fed Cuts Interest Rate

On Wednesday, the central bank cut rates ¼-point to 2.0%-2.25% as widely expected, but Fed Chair Powell said the easing is "a mid-cycle adjustment and not the beginning of a long cutting cycle." The news stirred angst as market expectations had priced in up to four ¼-point rate cuts over the next 12 months. Powell added that the Fed could ease again if needed.

Real Estate Performed Best

Nine of the 11 major sectors ended negative last week, with Consumer Discretionary (-4.57%), Technology (-4.35%) and Financials (-3.82%) falling the most. Real Estate (+2.09%) and Utilities (+0.31%) outperformed.

Treasurys Rally

Treasury prices rose sharply as equities retreated, sending yields broadly lower. For the week, the yield on two-year notes yield slid 14.1 basis points to 1.71% and the 10-year yield lost 22.4 basis points to 1.85%, near the lowest level since 2016. The U.S. Dollar Index rose 0.06% last week, while U.S. WTI crude oil slipped nearly 1% to end the week at $55.66/barrel.

Chart of the Week: Adjustments Mar Jobs Growth

Source: Cetera Investment Management, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, and U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Data as of 7/31/2019.

The U.S. economy added 164,000 jobs in July, which was in line with the consensus expectation. The unemployment rate held steady at 3.7% and the labor force participation rate increased slightly to 63.0%. Although employment growth was solid in July, the previous two months were downwardly revised by 41,000. Moreover, employment growth over the last six months (average of 141,000) is the slowest since October 2012.

The Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Bond Index, which was originally called the Lehman Aggregate Bond Index, is a broad based flagship benchmark that measures the investment grade, US dollar-denominated, fixed-rate taxable bond market. The index includes Treasuries, government-related and corporate debt securities, MBS (agency fixed-rate and hybrid ARM pass-throughs), ABS and CMBS (agency and non-agency) debt securities that are rated at least Baa3 by Moody's and BBB- by S&P. Taxable municipals, including Build America bonds and a small amount of foreign bonds traded in U.S. markets are also included. Eligible bonds must have at least one year until final maturity, but in practice the index holdings have a fluctuating average life of around 8.25 years. This total return index, created in 1986 with history backfilled to January 1, 1976, is unhedged and rebalances monthly.

The Bloomberg Barclays US Corporate High Yield Index measures the USD-denominated, non-investment grade, fixed-rate, taxable corporate bond market. Securities are classified as high yield if the middle rating of Moody's, Fitch, and S&P is Ba1/BB+/BB+ or below, excluding emerging market debt. Payment-in-kind and bonds with predetermined step-up coupon provisions are also included. Eligible securities must have at least one year until final maturity, but in practice the index holdings have a fluctuating average life of around 6.3 years. This total return unhedged index was created in 1986, with history backfilled to July 1, 1983 and rebalances monthly.

The Bloomberg Barclays US Municipal Bond Index covers the USD-denominated long-term tax exempt bond market. The index has four main sectors: state and local general obligation bonds, revenue bonds, insured bonds, and prerefunded bonds. Many of the subindices of the Municipal Index have historical data to January 1980. In addition, several subindices based on maturity and revenue source have been created, some with inception dates after January 1980, but no later than July 1, 1993. Eligible securities must be rated investment grade (Baa3/BBB- or higher) by Moody's and S&P and have at least one year until final maturity, but in practice has a fluctuating average life of around 12.8 years. This total return index is unhedged and rebalances monthly.
